Improving the health status of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples is a longstanding challenge for governments in Australia. While there have been improvements made in some areas since the 1970s (notably in reducing high rates of infant mortality<sup>1</sup>) overall progress has been slow and inconsistent. The inequality gap between Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and other ...Health provision varies around the world. Almost all wealthy nations provide universal health care (the US is an exception). Health provision is challenging due to the costs required as well as various social, cultural, political and economic conditions. A good example of the impact of global warming on health can be seen in the disease erythromelalgia. This is a vascular disease that is commonly triggered by the involvement of change in temperature, which leads to syndromes including (first and second degree) burning pain, increased temperature, erythema and swelling, of mainly the hands and feet that are affected. In the UK, our human rights are protected by law. This law is called the Human Rights Act 1998.. Quick facts. The Human Rights Act gives you legal protection of your human rights, such as your right to life, or your right to a fair trial.; There are 16 rights in total, and each one is referred to as a separate article, for example, Article 2: Right to life.
